Albert

The history of Internet goes back further, but the official birthday of the Internet is considered January 1, 1983. After that moment, nothing became same in the world. In 1990s, Internet was not so widespread and important, because it was limited to some industries, but after 2000s, every work, job, project, discovery, invention, cure and life was connected to the Internet. With the invention of Google, Facebook, Twitter, Youtube, Instagram, WhatsApp and other innovations, life gets more comfortable, easier and even less risky. Online shopping, watching movies, learning different languages, booking, searching for information, writing books, sending messages, making new friends, using artificial intelligence and producing pills or medicine are thanks to Internet. But, do you think the Internet is purely useful? Is it all safe? Can we use it without taking any risks? Hmm. I'm not so sure about that. Think about the Sun. It is the source of light and heat, but what about staying under the Sun for long hours on a summer day :)? (Yaniseen Fuat abee)

1- People could buy flight tickets online in 1893.

2- Albert just talks about the disadvantages of the Internet and he suggests that we should not spend even a minute on the Internet in our daily lives.

3- In 2008, people could communicate faster and easier thanks to Internet.

4- Albert is absolutely an Internet addict.

5- Albert uses the example of "Sun" to take attention to cons of the Internet, because, he wants us to be aware of harmful sides of using the Internet too much.

6. Choose the correct answers.

That is a difficult question for me to answer, because I'm not an expert or professional about the issues about the use of Internet, but I think it needs to be 2. That is my opinion, because some people work at the offices and their job is all connected to spending time on the Net. Also, some information technology scientists can not live without the Internet. That is quite normal. On the other hand, some people refuses to be online even for one minute.
